Course Requirements

1. Exam #1	35%
2. Papers	30%
4. Exam #2	35%

Exams and Papers

Both exams will be short answer and essay tests. During the travel portion of the course you will submit three papers, each @ 1000 words long (i.e., the equivalent of 4 double-spaced typed pages, though I expect you will write them out longhand.) In these papers you will be asked to respond to some of what you are seeing and reading. I'll discuss each paper with you when the time comes. To do this effectively, I recommend keeping a journal, so that you can jot down your responses to the things we will be seeing and reading. I'd like the journal to begin even while we are in Atlanta, so that it will contain reading notes taken here. I don't need to see your journals. They are for you. But they should help you with the paper assignments and exams.

Attendance Policy

I am imposing a draconian attendance policy for this study-abroad class. You are not allowed to miss any of my classes without penalty. (Documented emergencies are obviously excepted). The first absence lowers you half a grade. The second absence will result in a failing grade. If you are more than five minutes late it will be counted as an absence. So don't miss class and don't be late.

Note: Students are expected to abide by the Georgia Tech Honor Code.
